A Floating Fishing Lodge

With Every Pleasure a Fisherman Dreams About

SURROUNDED BY ALASKA'S WILDERNESS

Bald Eagles soar above you while seals and whales skim the surface nearby. Nestled in the vast wilderness is Clover Bay, located just north of Cholmondeley Sound on Prince of Whales Island's east shoreline. Our totally remote hideaway has no road access and is only a 15 minute seaplane ride from Ketchikan which is only 90 minutes from Seattle!

No detail has been overlooked in the lodge's 12 comfortable private rooms. Anchored in Clover Bay, away from it all, the lodge is complete with fish freezers, heliport & mooring facilities. So imagine yourself trolling your skiff through some of the finest salmon and halibut waters in the world! Or choose one our guided fishing packages aboard our versatile specialized vessels.

WHAT TO BRING ALONG

Because our temperatures can vary from 50-75 degrees during the summer fishing season, we recommend bringing a variety of clothing, some warm layered clothing is a must. Bring plenty of film, sun screen and extra camera batteries to capture your experiences in the wilderness along with those special items to make your stay ideal.
